

Lightning density maps provided by Vaisala-GAI (formerly Global Atmospheric), Tucson, Arizona. Map is for general informational and educational purposes only and is not indicative of current or future lightning activity. Lightning data provided by the U.S. National Lightning Detection Network.®

The 5-year Flash Density Map shows the average amount of lightning recorded in 1996–2000. The average amount of lightning that occurs in any given area varies significantly from year to year, as shown in the annual maps for 1996 and 2000.